To Whom It May Concern:

Hernando County, Florida has experienced dramatic increases in population over the past 20 years. With the increase in population came the expected increase in criminal activity.

In 1999, we purchased CrimeView from The Omega Group to help us manage the increased workload on our Crime Analysis Unit. The use of electronic pin maps to visually analyze crime trends and patterns greatly enhanced the capabilities of that unit. In 2003 we began producing data for accountability sessions based on New York City's "Compstat" model. CrimeView has been a valuable asset to the unit that produces data for those sessions as well.

Over the years, we have upgraded CrimeView as new technology has become available. I have always been impressed with the professional level of technical support and training we have received from The Omega Group. It is obvious that their employees are passionate about GIS technology!

I would highly recommend CrimeView for any law enforcement agency seeking to obtain an electronic solution to mapping and data needs. The product is rock solid, and The Omega Group is a pleasure to work with.

Thank you,
